Case No. 2:11-cv-00146-KJD-LRL
ORDER GRANTING
EX PARTE MOTION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE RESPONSIVE
PLEADING PURSUANT TO FRCP 6(b)
AND LR 6-1 and 6-2

22 Defendant, REAL TIME RESOLUTIONS, INC. (hereinafter, "RTR"), by and through its
23 counsel, PITE DUNCAN, LLP, respectfully submits this ex parte Motion, pursuant to FRCP 6(b)
24 and LR 6-1 and 6-2, requesting that this Court grant RTR an extension of time to file a responsive
25 pleading to the Plaintiffs' Complaint, which was filed January 27, 2011.

26 This Motion is based upon the fact that the undersigned counsel was only retained three (3)
27 days previous, the Complaint (with attached Exhibits) totals 349 pages, and the Plaintiffs have 28 refused to grant the undersigned the courtesy of a short extension. It is respectfully submitted that

1 there is good cause to enter an Order providing RTR with a brief extension within which to file a
 2 responsive pleading, and that the Plaintiffs will not suffer any prejudice as a result.

3 Respectfully submitted,

9 POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

10 I.

11 STATEMENT OF FACTS

12 A. Procedural History

13 The Plaintiffs filed the pending Complaint on January 27, 2011 (Document No. 1), and on 14 the same date they filed a Notice of Lis Pendens (Document No. 2). Apparently, the Plaintiffs
 15 submitted a Summons directed at RTR for issuance on February 18, 2011 (Document No. 4).
 16 However, they did not serve RTR until over four (4) months later, on May 19, 2011. No other party
 17 has filed an Answer or other responsive pleading in this matter.

18 B. Factual Background

19 Prior to retaining counsel, it is believed that RTR verbally communicated with the Plaintiff
 20 several times in an effort to resolve the claims asserted in this matter. RTR services a second, Home
 21 Equity Line of Credit ("HELOC") mortgage loan that the Plaintiffs sought out and executed, and 22 RTR has not taken any action to foreclose at this time on its subject loan. It appears that the focus
 23 of the Complaint is related to the First Deed of Trust, and the foreclosure thereunder. Nonetheless,
 24 the Plaintiffs apparently maintain that they have actionable claims against RTR, although their
 25 Complaint does not provide any legitimate background or basis therefor.

26 The office of the undersigned was retained on June 7, 2011, and RTR's responsive pleading
 27 is due today, June 10, 2011. Counsel for RTR has contacted Plaintiffs several times by telephone.
 28 (See, Affidavit of counsel, attached hereto.) On June 9, 2011, Plaintiff SUSAN CLOSSON advised

1 that she was not sure whether to agree to provide RTR with an extension of time to file a responsive
 2 pleadings, that she would discuss this with her husband, and that she would respond on June 10,
 3 2011. (Id.) However, Plaintiffs advised on June 10, 2011, that they would not agree to the requested
 4 extension. (Id.)

5 II.

6 LEGAL ARGUMENT

7 FRCP 6(b) provides this Court with the discretion to grant RTR a brief extension of time to 8 file a responsive pleading, and states:

9 (1) In General. When an act may or must be done within a specified time, the court
 10 may, for good cause, extend the time:

11 (A) with or without motion or notice if the court acts, or if a request is made,
 before the original time or its extension expires; or

12 (B) on motion made after the time has expired if the party failed to act because of excusable neglect.

13 (2) Exceptions. A court must not extend the time to act under Rules 50(b) and (d),
 52(b), 59(b), (d), and (e), and 60(b).

14 Federal District Court's are given "...broad discretion to expand filing deadlines[.]" under FRCP
 15 6(b). Hetzel v. Bethlehem Steel Corp., 50 F.3d 360, 367 (5th Cir. 1995); citing, Maldonado-Denis
 16 v. Castillo-Rodriguez, 23 F.3d 576, 583 (1st Cir. 1994); Woods v. Allied Concord Financial Corp., 17 373 F.2d 733, 734 (5th Cir. 1967).

18 Likewise, Local Rule 6-1 allows the Court to provide an extension, only requiring a 19 demonstration of excusable neglect when the request is made "...after expiration of the specified
 20 period[.]" An ex parte Motion for an extension of time is governed by LR 6-2, which operates under 21 the same standards set forth in FRCP 6(b) and LR 6-1, and simply specifies the procedure to use
 22 when requesting an extension of time requested by an ex parte Motion.

23 The deadline under which RTR was to file a responsive pleading has not expired and there
 24 is good cause to allow RTR a brief extension of time to file a responsive pleading. First, there have 25 been no prior requests for an extension. Indeed, no other party has filed any responsive pleading to 26 this Complaint, and there are no pre-trial or other deadlines that have been implemented by this
 27 Court. Consequently, the Plaintiffs will suffer no prejudice by the granting of a short extension.
 28 Additionally, the Plaintiffs have seen fit to initiate this action in proper person with the filing of a

349 page Complaint (including Exhibits), and it should be expected that some parties may require additional time to respond to such a voluminous pleading. Moreover, it is believed that RTR previously attempted in good faith to settle this matter without resorting to Court intervention, and, even though the Complaint fails to state a cognizable claim against RTR, the Plaintiffs insisted upon keeping RTR as a party herein. Finally, the office of the undersigned has only recently been retained, and has barely had an opportunity to analyze the voluminous Complaint and its exhibits. The undersigned has been unable discuss the allegations of the Complaint at length with RTR to allow for the preparation and filing of a responsive pleading. Neither RTR nor the undersigned is seeking a brief extension to delay these proceedings.

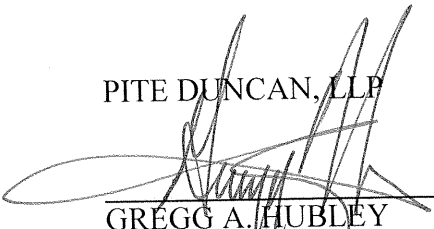

III.

CONCLUSION

Consequently, there is good cause to grant this ex parte request for an extension of time to file a responsive pleading, and the undersigned respectfully requests that the Court allow ten (10) additional days to prepare, file and serve a responsive pleading. RTR's responsive pleading is due to be filed and served, therefore, on or before June 20, 2011.
